

ABSTRACT

The present invention resides in a wheel formed from a flat sheet with the outer edge of the center portion changing into many beams extending to and forming the outer diameter in a manner to permit the 5 beams to flex with changing loads on the outer diameter. The outer diameter may be covered with a rubber like material. The disc wheel may have dimples for strength and stiffness. Two sheets and other materials may be used.